Mass Grave Burial

10,000 Men Work On Dam Disaster

BELLUNO, Italy (AP) — More than 10,000 men worked feverishly today to collect bodies of the dead in the Vajont Dam disaster and bury them in a gigantic mass grave to prevent outbreaks of disease.

Primier Giovanni Leone came from Rome to the stricken area for a first-hand view of the disaster as police moved out more than 200 persons whose villages were endangered by the threat of new landslides.

Estimates of the dead ranged up to 3,000 believed killed when a mountain landslide crashed into the dam's reservoir Wednesday night and sent flood waters roaring over the dam and down the Piave River Valley.

As Leone began his tour under a morning sun, 600 bodies had been recovered.

Most of the victims were still buried under the tons of mud and rock that turned the lovely Alpine valley 60 miles north of Venice into a wasteland. Many of the bodies may never be recovered.

Deputy Mayor Terenzio Arduin of Longarone, whose town of 4,600 was wiped out, said at least 1,500 of the town's residents were under the debris.

About 100 electric company employees, their families and several hundred residents of other villages also were missing.

Swiss Alpine rescue aircraft joined U.S. military helicopters to help Italian soldiers and police in the relief work.

Maj. Harvey C. Mayse of Westchester, Wash., commander of the U.S. 110th Aviation Co. stationed at nearby Verona, led the American helicopter crews.

"I'm 39 and I've been through warfare," Mayse said, "but this is the worst thing I have ever seen in my life. I hope I never see anything like it again."

The Swiss and Americans removed 200 persons from hamlets overlooking the Vajont Reservoir which seemed to be in danger of being swept away by threatened new landslides.

Many more residents of the hamlets refused to leave. They preferred to remain where their families had lived for centuries.

Service Station Broken Into During Night

Burglars struck again overnight in Sedalia making off with $50.34 in cash and some cigarettes from the DX Service Station at Sixth and Lamine. Police discovered the break-in at 3:35 a.m. Friday. Police said entry to the station was gained by breaking a north window. The thieves left by the front door.

A cash register was pried open and the money removed, $17 in bills and the rest in change. The front of a cigarette vending machine was pried off and about 12 packages taken, but there was no money missing. A soda pop machine outside the station was pried on, but entrance was not gained. The thieves apparently left in haste as some change was found scattered on the station floor.

Police are investigating. This was the fifth service station burglary in less than a week and another entry to a long list of unsolved petty break-ins which have baffled Sedalia police since June.

Accidents Show Slight Increase

Accidents in Pettis County in September, 1963, showed a slight increase over the same period for 1962, according to a report issued recently by Capt. G. W. Pate, commanding officer, Troop A, Missouri State Highway Patrol, Lees Summit. While the total number of accidents increased, injuries showed a marked decrease. Property damage increased, in proportion to the number of accidents. There was one fatality reported for both periods.

Capt. Pate reported that there were 2,955 accidents investigated by the patrol in the first nine months of 1963 in the 13 mid-western counties comprising the Troop A area. A total of 2,639 accidents were investigated during the corresponding period in 1962. Traffic deaths increased from 96 to 115. Injuries and property damage also showed increases.

The report also showed that a total of 356 persons were examined for driver's licenses in Pettis County in September, 1963. Of this number, 259 passed and 97 failed. There were 6,457 persons in the Troop A area given driver examination tests. Of these 4,354 passed their examinations.

Following is a breakdown for those counties in the Democrat-Capital trade area for September, 1963:

Benton County: no deaths; six injured; $7,360 property damage; 21 accidents.
Henry County: no deaths; 18 injured; $11,340 property damage; 18 accidents.

Conservative Party Splits In Britain

Bitter 3-Man Fight To Succeed Ailing Prime Minister

BLACKPOOL, England (AP) — Britain's ruling Conservative party was split today by a bitter three-man fight to succeed ailing Harold Macmillan as prime minister and party leader.

Deputy Prime Minister Richard A. Butler led the field despite a dramatic challenge Thursday night by Lord Hailsham, science minister and party leader in the House of Lords.

The dark horse, Chancellor of the Exchequer, Reginald Maudling, was to address the 4,000 delegates at the annual party conference here today. Maudling, 46, a Tory version of a New Frontiersman, has confided to friends he thinks he has a chance of getting the prize if Butler and Hailsham slug each other hard enough.

Hailsham, 56, came out running hard soon after Macmillan announced his decision to step down. The prime minister, 69, underwent prostate surgery Thursday. The operation was successful but Macmillan said his condition would not permit him to lead the Conservative campaign against the Labor party challenge in next year's general election.

A few hours later Hailsham, pale, excited and trembling, told a meeting of party workers he would give up his peerage and seek election to the House of Commons, a necessary step to qualify for prime minister.

Hailsham's declaration won tremendous applause from rank and file who believe his emotionalism and flamboyance is needed to put new life into the party. But some cabinet colleagues in private were tearing him to shreds.

Tory leaders never are elected. They evolve. The party conference is only one element of the movement. Another is the cabinet and the party high command which together form the Tory Establishment.

Council And Traffic Panel To Meet With Highway Commission

Mayor L. L. Studer of Sedalia said today a meeting between himself, the City Council the Citizens Traffic Commission, and representatives from the Highway Commission, to resolve the controversy over traffic lights on South Limit, and speed limits on Highway 50 and Highway 65 in Sedalia, will be held before any action on these items is taken.

A letter from the District Engineer this week indicated the City must go along with recommended speed increases before a traffic light is installed at 16th and Limit. The mayor said the City will probably have to go along with the recommendations, but not before a meeting to discuss the matter is held.

The mayor said the meeting will have to be held after construction on South Highway 65 in the City is completed, in about one month.

Kennedy Says 'No'

Red Wheat Sale Subsidy Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — Does the U.S.-Soviet deal involve a subsidy for the Soviet Union? President Kennedy says no.

Charles Halleck, House Republican leader says, in essence, yes. This dispute over one aspect of the proposed sale of $250 million or more of U.S. wheat to the Soviets and three satellites is likely to linger.

At least one thing seems certain: The subsidy, to whomever it goes, will be paid by the U.S. taxpayer.

However, taxpayers — represented by the federal government — will get a break in the deal in at least one way: There'll be less wheat left for the government to buy and store, and therefore government cost will be less.

The Agriculture Department estimates that $225 million will be cut from federal expenditures this fiscal year and another $30 million next year.

The export subsidy on 150 million bushels of wheat probably will run about $75 million, and it will be paid "in kind"—that is, the U.S. exporter will receive wheat instead of dollars.

The government supports domestic wheat prices at $1.80 to about $2 a bushel, but the world price is usually some 50 cents below that. In order to sell wheat outside the United States, the government must pay the exporter a subsidy.

There is room for argument because, in effect, there are two subsidies: One is paid to the farmer to keep domestic prices high; the other is paid to the exporter to nullify the effect of the high domestic prices.

The farmer, in effect, receives a payment because he can sell his wheat to the government — through a loan agreement—at the high support price if he is unable to sell it through private channels.

Kennedy contends the farmer has received a subsidy benefit through the high support price—regardless of what happens to the wheat after that.

And, Kennedy told his news conference Wednesday, "There is in such transactions no subsidy to the foreign purchaser; only a savings to the American taxpayer on wheat the government has already purchased and stored at the higher domestic price which is maintained to assist our farmers."

Rusk Protest Delivered Personally

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk personally delivered a strong protest today against Soviet action in holding up U.S. troop convoys on the highway connecting Berlin and West Germany.

Calling in Soviet Ambassador Anatoly G. Dobrynin, Rusk "firmly expressed the concern with which we view this unjustifiable action," State Department officials reported.

A convoy of 18 American vehicles and 61 men was delayed for 16 hours Thursday at the West German entrance to the autobahn, and then was stopped a second time as it approached West Berlin. An Allied officer in Berlin said he had never seen so many Soviet soldiers at the Berlin checkpoint.

Another convoy also was stopped for a time, but some others were permitted to pass without delay.

Dobrynin spent only seven minutes in Rusk's office, where Rusk made his oral protest.

New Light Shed On Proposed Dam

Real Estate Plan for Kaysinger

The method of procuring real estate for the proposed Kaysinger Bluff Dam reservoir was one of the highlights of a talk by Col. Miles L. Wachendorf, district engineer, Kansas City District, Corps of Engineers, at the annual meeting of the Land-O-Lakes Association at Osceola Thursday night.

Col. Wachendorf explained that even though construction funds have not been allocated, he felt a discussion of the real estate policy as it currently applies to the Kaysinger project was important. The allocation of construction funds is the signal for the engineers to start acquiring land, he explained, but so far only design funds have been appropriated.

Policy to Apply
Essentially, Col. Wachendorf explained, the "Joint Interior-Army Real Estate Policy" provides that the government own free title to all reservoir lands to insure that maximum benefits are derived therefrom.

However, he explained, that the new policy contains a provision for acquisition in easements of certain lands in the headwater areas of reservoirs, where these lands are not required for the operation and maintenance of the project for recreational purposes, for fish and wildlife purposes, and where there is a financial advantage to the government.

All of these conditions must be met. The engineer noted that he is aware that there has been a considerable amount of discussion of the application of this policy in the upper reaches of the reservoir.

with respect to taking flowage easements rather than free purchase.

"Naturally," the Colonel explained, "the final determination of exact interest to be taken in all lands affected by the reservoir will not be made until our real estate studies are completed. I am optimistic that a solution satisfactory to most interests can be obtained."

Osceola Area
Col. Wachendorf noted that the people from Osceola attending the meeting are particularly interested in the effects of the reservoir in that area. He explained that the conservation pool will extend above Osceola, so that it will become a lake front community, with a continuation and expansion of recreational facilities and activities in that area.

The engineer explained that buildings which would be inundated by the reservoir if the full flood control stage is reached will have to be moved. The government expects to purchase these buildings from the owners, who

A hearing on a temporary injunction was set for Oct. 21. Cox, secretary-treasurer of the Council said in Kansas City he had no comment.

Nelson said he had been informed the painters who had returned to their jobs had done so against orders from Cox.

When the strike began Wednesday Cox said the Sharpe firm had failed to live up to an agreement on the type of surfaces that could be spray painted at the missile sites. The sites are scattered over five counties, Bates, Cass, Henry, Johnson and Lafayette.

A Democrat-Capital reporter observed a lone man picketing the office of the Sharpe firm here at East Third and the M-K-T Railroad tracks at 8:30 a.m. Friday morning. The picket, however, apparently ceased his efforts shortly thereafter. No pickets were observed at 11 a.m.

He carried a sign which read "On Strike, Randall H. Sharpe, Inc., Violation of Contract, A refusal to abide by joint agreement, Painters District Council No. 3, Kansas City."

The ordinance is being drawn up by a bonding attorney in Kansas City. The mayor said it will be finished and ready for approval by the special council meeting date.

This is the only order of business that is expected to be conducted at this special meeting, the mayor said.

Red Troop Move Worst In Years

BERLIN (AP) — About 100 combat-ready Soviet troops blocked a U.S. Army supply convoy from Berlin today. Another U.S. Army convoy of 100 armed soldiers moved out of Berlin and stood nearby, possibly ready to give assistance to the halted convoy.

It was the worst incident in years on the autobahn, the lifeline superhighway between West Germany and Berlin, 100 miles inside Communist East Germany.

Reliable sources said the Russian soldiers carried submachine guns and some wore steel helmets. An Allied officer said he had never seen so many Soviet soldiers at the Berlin checkpoint, Babelsberg.

The stalled U.S. convoy had been harassed ever since it entered the superhighway Thursday. It was almost a day behind schedule when it reached the checkpoint outside Berlin.

A U.S. spokesman said the Russians declared they would maintain the blockade until settlement of a dispute over handling U.S. military traffic. He denounced the blockade as "a wholly unilateral Soviet action" designed to force a change in established procedures.

The reason for the Soviet toughness was somewhat of a mystery in view of the recent relaxation of East-West tensions. Some speculated that the Russians were retaliating for a recent U.S. show of strength to halt trucking by East German border guards.

The spokesman first said the Russians were blocking all traffic on the autobahn by throwing armored personnel carriers across both the east and westbound lanes.

Later he issued a statement saying some civilian traffic was being allowed to pass both ways.

"Contrary to previous information," he said, "Soviet personnel carriers were not moved into the westbound lane. They were placed in the eastbound lane. Some civilian traffic is moving in both directions, using westbound lane."

Flora Ruin Threat To Castro Rule

Serious Setback For Communists' Grip On Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — An anti-Castro group says the devastation wrought in Cuba by hurricane Flora has struck a major blow at Fidel Castro's dictatorship and "almost anything could happen" to him now.

The Citizens Committee for a Free Cuba, an anti-Castro organization, said today hurricane damage is only the latest threat to the prime minister's rule. Also endangering his position, it said, is the collapse of Cuba's food supply and "increasing disenchantment with increasingly rigid application of Communist discipline and food rationing."

Even if the hurricane damage was not catastrophic, committee experts said, it unquestionably represents an extremely serious setback for the Castro government.

Reports of the damage dealt Cuba by the hurricane have been sparse. U.S. government experts do not have enough information to evaluate the situation definitely. The Cuban press has written of 48 deaths. The Cuban rescue radio network has spoken of 200.

Havana radio, meanwhile, has cautioned against rumors until there is an official announcement.

Famed Singer Edith Piaf Dead at 47

PARIS (AP)—Edith Piaf, who sang her way from Paris street corners to international fame, died today after a long series of grave illnesses.

Miss Piaf, who was 47, was brought to Paris by ambulance from her Riviera home Thursday and died shortly after dawn today of an internal hemorrhage. Her husband of just over a year, 27-year-old Theo Sarapo, was at her side.

A frail brunette with a strong and haunting voice, Miss Piaf soared to fame just before the World War II. She became a national idol and by the 1950's was widely known abroad.

She had planned to return to New York this year to sing her sentimental repertoire, including her own "La Vie en Rose."

Born in poverty, the daughter of a roving acrobat, Miss Piaf sang for coins on Paris streets when she was 15. In 1935, a well-dressed stranger invited her to his night club and soon Edith Giovanna Gassion had top billing under the name Piaf, after the sparrows on Paris streets.

The great love of her life was Marcel Cerdan, world middle-weight boxing champion. Cerdan was killed in a 1949 plane crash.

Her life was marked by illness and accident. As a child she was blind for three years following a severe attack of conjunctivitis. Her vision returned after a pilgrimage to the Catholic shrine of St. Therese at Lisieux.

Major Issues Stand-Off By Leaders

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House discussion between President Kennedy and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko ranged from Cuba to the moon but neither side gave an inch on major East-West issues, informants said today.

However, no big changes in Soviet positions were expected by the President or his advisers, and officials pictured Thursday's talks as being exploratory, with Moscow and Washington sounding each other out to see if there may be new fields of understanding after the limited nuclear test ban.

Both Kennedy and Gromyko were described as relaxed as they sat across from each other—a notable change in atmosphere from the last time Gromyko was a White House caller.

Ironically, that was just short of one year ago—Oct. 18, 1962—and Kennedy, who already had seen the now famous aerial photographs, asked Gromyko if the Soviet Union was building missile sites on Cuba and Gromyko said no.

Cuba was among the world problems Kennedy and Secretary of State Dean Rusk discussed with Gromyko Thursday.

Kennedy is understood to have restated the U.S. position that the remaining Soviet troops must be withdrawn from the island. Though U.S. officials declined to say what Gromyko answered, they recalled when the same issue was brought up in Moscow last summer Soviet Premier Khrushchev told Rusk there are no Soviet combat troops in Cuba, only training units, and that they would stay.

The test ban treaty went formally into force Thursday and Khrushchev sent messages to Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan urging settlement of "other ripe international issues."

His statement said the treaty showed a shift for the better in international relations but did not eliminate the danger of war which he called "the main international problem of our age."

The Soviet Union, he said, was ready to exert new efforts to see that this new shift in events would become the beginning of a "sharp turn toward a considerable relaxation of international tensions."

He noted six issues whose settlement he said would clear a way for general and complete disarmament and, "consequently save the peoples from the threat of war."

Other Fires

High winds blew a grass fire across one farm and onto another about 11:23 a. m. Thursday, and it took the Pettis County Fire Department, with help from neighbors, tractors, scoops and other means about four and one-half hours to douse the flames.

The fire reportedly started along the Missouri-Pacific right-of-way, and burned off between 150 and 200 acres before it was stopped. The fire got its start on the Elmer Mewes farm, north of Gasoline Alley, burned across it and onto the Bill Phillips farm.

Two tanks of water from the truck were needed to put the fire out. Damaged were a pasture, corn field, hayfield and fences. No estimate of damage was available.

Ann Landers

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: A group of us teenagers were discussing the things that gripe us most about our parents. We decided that instead of just complaining we ought to do something constructive. We have drawn up ten resolutions which we have titled "The Ten Commandments of Parenthood."

We have tried to be fair and we are proud of our work. Please tell us what you think of it. Here they are:

1. Parents should not open mail, eavesdrop on conversations, or search the personal belongings of their teenagers.

2. Parents should give their teenagers an allowance in proportion to the amount of work they do around the house.

3. Parents should not use violence as a means of discipline. Forfeiting allowance, telephone calls or night out or being given extra chores are much better disciplinary tools.

4. Parents should give teenagers an allotted time on the telephone. Fifteen minutes a night should be plenty.

5. Parents should not ban places, people or social practices. More often than not, if parents would explain why they disapprove they would find their teenagers in agreement with them.

New Personnel Hired by Board At Knob Noster

New personnel have been added to the Knob Noster school staff. After interviews and screening applicants, the board of education selected Mrs. Dorothy Hayes as district nurse.

Mrs. Hayes has been a registered nurse in the states of Michigan and Kansas and is a graduate of Mary Mount Nursing College, Salina, Kan. She has had experience in hospital nursing and in a doctor's office. She has two children and her husband works at Whiteman AFB Hospital. She began work Oct. 7.

A new secretary, Mrs. Marion Nichols, has been employed to work in the Junior High School office. She is married, has a daughter in Knob Noster High School, and lives on Whiteman AFB. Mrs. Nichols has had approximately ten years office experience. She will begin work Oct. 14.

Mrs. Betty Rhodes, secretary for Principal James Appleberry, was promoted to the office of superintendent of schools. She will replace Mrs. Juanita Lane. Mrs. Lane, after serving for over nine years, resigned Sept. 5, but continued to work on a part time basis until a replacement could be selected.

Mrs. Gladys Shobe, who has been teaching fourth grade in Knob Noster since Sept. 16, approved by the board at the October meeting.

Enrollment continued to grow throughout the first month of school. Sept. 3, the total was 2,084; Sept. 5, it was 2,100; Sept. 10, it was 2,188; Sept. 17, it was 2,147; and Sept. 27, the total was 2,155 with 412 in high school.

Fish Story Comes To An Unhappy End

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—Mrs. Maynard Henson of Joplin returned from Oklahoma's Grand Lake with this fish story this week:

Fishing from the shore, she hooked a fair sized crappie. Before she got it out of the water a big black bass, about a six-pounder, gulped down the crappie and took off, dragging the bobber far under and bending her pole.

The line snapped, the bobber popped up and hit her in the face, and she slipped and fell in the mud at the water's edge.

6. Parents should tolerate teenage clothing fads. They wore some pretty weird get-ups in their day.

7. Parents should not treat sex as a joke or something terrible. They should be open, honest and frank.

8. Parents should see to it that their children grow up in an atmosphere where religion is important.

9. Parents should act as models for their teenagers.

10. Parents should not forget that they were once teenagers and not so very different from us.

—PLATTSBURG, N. Y. TEENS.

Dear Plattsburg: You have done an excellent job. I heartily approve of all the commandments except Number 5. In it's place I would suggest substituting this one:

Parents should exercise their God-given right to draw firm and definite boundaries for their teenagers. They should not respond to pressure of such arguments as, "Everybody else is doing it. I'm the only one who can't."

Dear Ann Landers: My problem is an unusual one. It's the way my boy friend dances. It's not that he is a poor dancer, it's that he is just too good a dancer for me.

We've been going together for almost a year and I've tried to learn the intricate steps so I can follow him, but it's no use. I've told him I feel uncomfortable when he does fancy steps but he pays no attention and does them anyway. It's embarrassing because I feel that everyone is watching us and pitying him.

Don't get the idea that I can't dance at all. I am considered a good partner for the standard dances, but I am no good as an exhibitionist. What can you suggest?—STUMBLING SAL.

Dear Sal: I know the type. He doesn't need a partner because he's always doing a solo.

Tell him if he insists on trying for the cup every time, you'll walk off the floor and let him shine by himself. Then do it.

Confidential to TIRED OF CORRUPTION: It takes two to play that game. Why do you criticize him for accepting when you are equally guilty for offering? You can clean up the "scandalous situation" by starting with yourself.

Training For Fire Fighters Is Realistic

The junior firefighters from Warrensburg received realistic training Thursday while preparing for a fire-fighting demonstration at the Whiteman AFB theater.

The firefighters were setting up for demonstration when the base fire department received a call for mutual aid from Warrensburg. ## Pastor Martin To Speak At Faith Baptist

"How Can a Man Be Just With God?" is the subject of Pastor Roger Martin's message Sunday morning at Faith Baptist Church, 2331 South Ingram. Mrs. Kenneth Keele and Mrs. Harold Ryan will sing the duet, "O My Soul, Bless Thou Jehovah," in this service. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Roger Martin, will sing "Jesus Won My Heart."

The evening service at 7 will be highlighted by a number of special musical arrangements and a time of testimony and praise. Mrs. Mel Crumbliss and Mrs. Russell Holman will sing John Peterson's "Matchless Grace"; Pastor and Mrs. Martin will sing the familiar "Ivory Palaces." "Praise God, Hallelujah," will be sung by Mr. and Mrs. Mel Crumbliss. An unusual arrangement of "We're Marching to Zion," is the choir number. Pastor Martin's evening message, "Spiritual Wisdom from God," will be the last in a series.

Immediately following the evening service, the Youth Fellowship will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Swisher for a program and fellowship.

At the Wednesday evening service at 7:30, Rev. Martin will continue the study of the book of Revelation. A color sketch of one scene is the special project for the week. Choir rehearsal will follow a time of prayer.

The sermon topic for the Sunday morning service at the East Broadway Christian Church is "This World Too Small For Man."

Miss Catherine Garman at the organ will play, as prelude, "In Quiet Meditation," by Sermon; as offertory, "Melody of Hope," by Nolte; and as postlude, "Majestic Largo," by Lorenz.

Bible study will be at 6:30 with a class for all age groups. At the evening service at 7:30 there will be slides shown of the Kiamichi Clinic for men which is held in the Kiamichi Mountains in Honobia, Okla. There will also be slides shown of the Cookson Hills Christian Home which is located in Oklahoma. Dorcas Circle of the church sends a contribution to this home.

Choir practice is at 7:30 Wednesdays.

Thirsty Earth Invites Fire

"It's hot. It's dry."
"So it is, indeed!"

These are the salutations heard on the streets of Sedalia as the drought continues.

The subject becomes one of practical concern, too, and prompts allusion to something we came close to neglecting — reference to National Fire Prevention week.

Coincidentally, the arid condition of the countryside in Central Missouri may be likened to a tinderbox. Dry grass is being covered by falling leaves as crisp as potato chips. Raging field fires already have occurred. City and town yards also are not invulnerable to the carelessly tossed lighted cigarette or match. The unwatched charcoal fire may flick out a spark in the backyard to set dry grass ablaze.

The season calls for extra alertness to a condition which is overlooked in the fire safety stories, speech material and statistics which reached the editor's desk listing 29 fire hazards to guard against in the promotion of Fire Prevention Week.

The thought occurred that if we put some emphasis on the protracted drought conditions hereabouts and the dangers of grass fires, then before this editorial got into type our area would be drenched by rain; you know, like what happens after you wash your automobile, or hang out a mid-week clothes washing.

However, in this case the next day it didn't rain. The hex is on us.

Regardless, let this Fire Prevention Week be a reminder of caution in areas of fire hazards whether in the home, in the shop, or out in the country.

NEW YORK TIMES: The Capitalistic Cabie.—New York taxi drivers are called many things—the Police Hack Bureau gets 4,000 complaints a year against them—but seldom capitalists. Scholars, clerks, rabbis, interns, musicians help fill the ranks of the 39,000 drivers who man the city's 11,728 cabs.

With tips they earn as much as $100 a week if they operate one of the 6,800 fleet-owned cabs, or as much as $170 if they are among the 5,000 owner-drivers. To some New Yorkers the taxi driver is guide, philosopher and friend; to others, a rude and unmitigated nuisance. But who thinks of them as businessmen, with a substantial investment in their businesses?

Now the Citizens Union informs us that the medallions required for all taxicabs since 1937 have risen in value to $26,500 each for an owner-driven cab and $32,000 for a fleet cab. When next you sit behind the man with the police-mandated cap, remember he is a capitalist who may have a bigger stake in the metal plate on his cab than you have in your mortgaged home.

Alliance for Progress at Zero Hour

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It is the zero hour for the Alliance for Progress. This was the general consensus of senators who debated the march of Latin military dictatorships at a closed door session of the Senate foreign relations committee.

The situation has become so serious that Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., chairman of the Senate subcommittee on Latin America, told State Department officials they should have arranged a show of military force to save the democracies of the Dominican Republic and Honduras from overthrow.

Perhaps the military seizures could have been prevented, Morse suggested, by the timely arrival of a U.S. aircraft carrier or a contingent of Marines.

This was also the view of Sen. Ernest Gruening, the grizzled Democrat from Alaska once in charge of the Caribbean area under Roosevelt and an adviser on the original good neighbor policy.

Gruening, who was invited to attend the closed door session of the foreign relations committee, though not a member, argued that if any government requested intervention by the United States the United States could intervene without encroaching on national sovereignty.

"We sent the entire Sixth Fleet to Lebanon and landed 6,000 Marines when the president of Lebanon asked for help in a much less serious situation," Sen. Gruening recalled. "But when the Dominican ambassador officially asked for help, where were we?"

"This was the first honest election ever held in the Dominican Republic," the senator from Alaska continued. "If the Kennedy administration isn't going to lose its shirt in Latin America it should now cut off the Dominican sugar quota, cut off all U.S. aid and withhold our ambassador until President Bosch is taken back."

"Gunboat Diplomacy"

Nervous, chain-smoking Ambassador John Bartlow Martin who had been called back to Washington from Santo Domingo told the senators he had expected the military revolt. The tip-off came when the top Dominican military failed to show up at a reception for a visiting American admiral, Rear Admiral William E. Farrell, commander of the 15th Naval District.

"Mr. Ambassador," broke in Morse, glaring fiercely from beneath shaggy eye-brows, "how did the admiral get into the Dominican Republic?"

"He flew in," said the ambassador. "You testified," pressed Morse, "that it was known for some time that this coup was on its way. What would have been the result if an aircraft carrier had embarked to Santo Do-

Philatelic Department Is Paying Off

By J. W. DAVIS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American citizen is wrong if he thinks his government never does anything but tax and tax, spend and spend.

There's one federal outfit that actually operates at a profit, bringing in the cash from happy, satisfied customers.

It's the Philatelic Sales Agency in the Post Office Department, which sells more than $3-million worth of stamps to collectors each year.

The agency points out, in a pretty well-satisfied way:

"Stamps sold for philatelic purposes are not used for postage and the government is not called upon to perform any service, making the sale of these issues a profitable operation for the Post Office Department."

This is an appropriate time to consider the operations of the agency, since its newest commemorative stamp, honoring Eleanor Roosevelt, is being issued today at a White House ceremony.

One hundred and thirty million of these Mrs. Roosevelt stamps, five cents each, are being printed. Most, of course, will be used on regular mail but many will be hoarded by collectors and never "cashed."

Collectors have a particular liking for commemorative stamps. They are rarer than regular issues and many of them are interesting works of art. Some, it must be admitted, are pretty dowdy.

Commemoratives were first issued in connection with the Chicago World's Fair in 1893. Since then many events and persons have been honored.

The department issues a maximum of 15 different commemoratives each year, a total that has been found acceptable to a majority of collectors, as well as the postal authorities.

There has to be some kind of a hold-down, since the department gets 250-300 new proposals each year and has a backlog of requests for approximately 3,000 different stamps.

There are some hurt feelings over the department's refusal to commemorate the founding of cities and towns, but the postal people say there are just too many of them now reaching round-figure anniversaries.

There's also a flat rule against issuing stamps to honor fraternal, political or religious organizations, a commercial enterprise or a specific product.

The best bets for commemoratives are famous people (they have to be dead), or events of widespread national appeal and significance.

In the latter category would come such as the 4-cent Project Mercury stamp of Feb. 20, 1962, signaling the first orbital flight of a U.S. astronaut.

The postmaster general is open to suggestions—just write to him at Washington 25, D.C., 18 months ahead of the time you think your stamp should be issued.

A best seller would make the suggester proud. It'd help the taxpayers, too.

Polly's Pointers

Polly Helps a Bride

by Polly Cramer, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY — I, too, save the pointers. Recently when I gave a shower for a bride-to-be, I passed out a Polly's Pointer clipping to each guest. Then each one read her Pointer aloud. This led to our sharing our own helpful hints with the bride. We had an interesting and informative afternoon not only for the bride-to-be but for us older homemakers, too.—MRS. M. K.

DEAR POLLY — To make shoe trees for women's pointed-toe shoes, unwind two wire coat hangers, place the straight end of the hanger in a toe and bend it at the desired length for the heel. I hang mine on the clothes rod by using the hook that was in the hanger. My feet are wide and my shoes get out of shape but this certainly helps to keep them nice looking.—MRS. J. S.

GIRLS — I liked this basic idea but was afraid the straight, rather sharp end might damage the shoe. I bent the end of the wire so there is a narrow V and its point goes into the toe. I love the idea of hanging them on a rod.

— POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Ever try to work with a stiff chamois? It is a tough job. Place the chamois in a pan of warm water with a teaspoon or two of vegetable oil, soak for a few minutes and then rinse thoroughly. Softens it in a jiffy!—POLLY P.

DEAR POLLY — I have found a good way to store flower pots. Take a strong cord and tie a big knot (bigger than the holes in the pots) on the bottom of the cord. Then slide the flower pots on to the cord through the drainage holes. After the pots are strung on the cord, hang the cord from a hook or self in the garage or basement.—MR. H. D.

GIRLS — Another neat gentleman has thrown in his dollar's worth. If you have trouble making the knot large enough, tie an old clothespin in it and the pots will not slip through.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — Before washing sweaters, tack the buttonholes together to keep them from stretching out of shape during the laundering. Wax on window sills not only protects the paint but makes a simple job of wiping off dirt and rain spots. To get more mileage out of my bath mats, I make them reversible by sewing a Turkish towel on the bottom side. Before purchasing dark colored corduroy, take a white handkerchief and rub the surface of the fabric briskly. If the color comes off on your handkerchief, you can expect it to rub off on other clothing. If the color rubs off when the fabric is dry, the problem will be worse when the material is being laundered.

If Only Ike Had a Twin Brother 10 Years Younger

By PETER EDSON

Washington Correspondent

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON — The three birthday parties being planned for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower indicate he is still first in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his Republican countrymen.

But recent political developments raise some challenges to this last distinction.

The first celebration, Oct. 12, two days before his real birthday, will be held in Hershey, Pa. Organizers of this party—Roy Wilkins Jr., of Bellefonte, Pa., and Admiral Lewis Strauss—insist it is strictly a social affair.

The hosts will be about 400 of the 850 prominent citizens President Eisenhower invited to his many private little stag dinners during his eight years in the White House. They decided to repay his hospitality with a dinner in his honor, at $25 a plate, Dutch treat.

Even if it is nonpolitical or bipartisan—Jim Farley has accepted, for instance—all Republicans who attend are sure touches for GOP campaign contributions later on.

The former President will be 73 on Oct. 14. He plans to spend that day quietly with his family in Gettysburg.

But the next night he will come to Washington for a cut-rate dinner—$75 a plate instead of the usual $100 — which is frankly a political fund raiser for the 1964 campaigns.

GOP National Committee Chairman William E. Miller of New York will be principal speaker, Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania toastmaster. The dessert will be cake made from Mamie's favorite recipe, and the hope is that 1,000 or more will have it and eat it, too, in the Sheraton Park's double banquet rooms.

For the Eisenhower name is still magic, and the GOP would gladly run the general for President again—or maybe even his brother Milton—if it could.

Right now, however, the ex-president and Dr. Milton are concentrating on the Republican Citizens Committee to line up independent and Democratic support for the GOP next year.

Half a dozen Critical Issues Council task forces are being assembled to prepare papers on what Republican policy should be in the 1964 platform.

But even before this effort can get under way, it is being challenged by the rise of Sen. Barry Goldwater as a popular favorite for the presidential nomination.

It is already obvious that a platform which satisfies Senator Goldwater isn't going to satisfy the Eisenhoweres, and vice versa. The question is whether this presages a fight for party dominance between the Eisenhower middle-of-the-roads and the Goldwater keep-to-the-righters.

It would also be a fight between the Old Guard—the ex-cabinet members and administrators of the Eisenhower era—and the self-styled New Guard of young Republicans who are all out for Goldwater.

There is a third Republican force in this coming fight, too. This is the Republican delegation in Congress which now makes the working policy that counts.

From the Eisenhower wing of the party there may well be some questioning as to where the Congressional wing gets its ideas.

After the House Republicans' futile fight to tie a budget-cutting amendment onto the administration tax cut bill, business leaders who have always given heavily to GOP campaign funds let it be known that, "You don't need to expect any money from us next year if you don't pass a tax cut bill this year."

Also, the national opinion polls on critical issues all seem to show preference for Kennedy administration programs over the Republican alternatives.

Some politicians discount polls as usually supporting the party of whomever is President. But if the national surveys are at all accurate on current leading issues, their findings are not reflected in GOP congressional leadership policies.

High Price for Error

By J. A. DEAR

WASHINGTON — Red China vs. Russia.

Victory for the West without war. A ruinous collision that will destroy both powers. At the least, Russia is an ally in bringing the belligerent and irresponsible Chinese to heel.

That's the dream of western diplomacy, and it is nourished daily by the increasingly acrimonious exchanges between Peking and Moscow.

American policy is not built on this haze of optimism. The disintegration of Communist power is delightful to contemplate but:

1. Russia and Red China would stick together in any showdown with the Free World.

2. At the heart their differences involve tactics, not end values. To bury us is the aim of both; the point of the dispute is how.

The warlords of Peking would risk nuclear war to bring down the West; the Russians would rather not. They know better.

With this caveat in mind, it is comforting to note that relations between Moscow and Peking, already strained, probably will worsen.

Apart from the question of tactics is the map of Asia itself. Red China wants the map redrawn to include within its borders areas to which vague claim is laid on the basis of events in the misty past. Some of these areas are now part of the USSR.

Russia probably fears the evolution of a nuclear China. (Recently Khrushchev issued a puzzling statement: He had enough nuclear weapons to protect the socialist camp. Was he talking to us or the Chinese?)

It's unlikely that Russia envisions an attack on itself by a nuclear China. But if the Chinese get more military power before acquiring a mature sense of responsibility the chances for peace will nosedive.

The differences between the great Communist powers are real; this isn't a show put on for our benefit. But we aren't doing anything in particular to exacer-

Only stubbornness and pride make them hard to say. Stubbornness blocks them with the thought, "If he—or she—wants to apologize, all right, but I know I was in the right and I'm certainly not going to back-track."

Pride blocks those words with the thought, "Maybe I was partly to blame, but I'm not going to lower myself to apologize."

Kind of childish, isn't it? But that is why so many quarrels are never ended—when a few words could set things straight.

Actually, it doesn't really matter who was at fault when a friendship is shaken, a marriage is strained almost to the breaking point, or when a dispute makes bad feelings between two persons.

All that really matters is that one of the persons involved be big enough and generous enough and kind enough to shoulder the blame and put an end to the ugly misunderstanding.

The person who says, "I'm sorry. It was all my fault," doesn't lower himself. He raises himself beyond stubbornness and pride—and when the words are said, both persons realize the truth of that.

So why not be the one to say "I'm sorry"? You can't lose anything by those words — and you can often win back something important that has been lost—something as important as love or friendship or another's respect.

Democrat Pick-ups

A YOUNG WOMAN who was just starting to bowl and didn't do so well, watched another woman bowl and she didn't do so well either.

"Are you a beginner, too?" the new bowler asked.

The woman chuckled. "No," she told her, "I've been bowling for 25 years."

"Well," said the girl, "then I don't feel so bad."—H. L.

bate the quarrel on the theory that might restore harmony.

In short, though the dispute is helpful to the West, we can't count on its solving our problems.

Nor should we think in terms of Russia as an ally against malevolent China. As George Kennan once pointed out, you pay a price when you take evil as an ally. The military power of the democracies was insufficient to cope unaided with the evil of fascism; Russia's resistance to Germany made victory in World War II possible. And we have been paying a high price ever since.

Should the error be repeated?

Serve Cause By Giving Silent Talk

By CARL C. CRAFT

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Each Sunday, a Louisville minister delivers a silent sermon. The 65 members of his congregation are deaf. The Rev. Robert M. Landes, 24, communicates in sign language.

"The deaf need the Bible's message, too," said Landes, pastor of the Fourth Avenue Baptist Church for the Deaf, "and this is my way of serving the cause of the Lord."

Landes became interested in work for the deaf when it was discovered that his older brother was deaf in one ear. He learned to "sign" the alphabet with his brother and during his freshman year at Carson-Newman College in Jefferson City, Tenn.

At college, Landes recalled, he had a friend who was deaf. The friend failed in school, and the last thing he said before leaving was, "I'll pray that you will become a missionary for the deaf." Landes said, "I laughed because I was planning to study Spanish and become a missionary in Latin America. But he must have prayed awfully hard, because here I am."

The following summer, Landes established a deaf ministry in Seattle under a Southern Baptist Convention program. A year later, he and his brother established a deaf ministry in their home church at Richmond, Va.

"The Lord was leading and everything opened up," Landes said, explaining how he came to Louisville and obtained a separate congregation for the deaf. It is one of perhaps five such churches in the country.

During the year and a half he has been pastor of the Louisville church, Landes has seen his congregation grow rapidly.

At most churches where there are special classes for the deaf, the sermons are interpretive—an interpreter stands in front of the class to translate a sermon into sign language as a minister preaches.

Landes and his wife Nadine, who also can use sign language, are teaching it to a class of nurses at Baptist Hospital in Louisville. The instruction is open to nurses from other hospitals in the city. Landes said the use of sign language will help the nurses understand the deaf patients' problems and should aid in treatment.

body and then serve a covered dish lunch during the noon hour. Their class meeting will be at 1 p.m.

Thursday night will be Brotherhood night during the revival. The men of the Brotherhood will provide special music for the evening.

Saturday afternoon at 1:30 the Associational GA meeting will be held at the Houstonia Baptist Church. This meeting is for the junior and intermediate GA's.

MU Favored 2-1

Missouri To Play K-State
In First Big Eight Foray

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 11—(Special)—Both Missouri and Kansas State should field a full complement of able-bodied backs when the two teams meet here for the 49th time Saturday afternoon.

The Parent's Day football match—first Big Eight foray for the Bengals—will draw an estimated 38,000 customers. Missouri is 2-1 so far, while the Wildcats are 1-2.

Of Mizzou regains Vince Turner, ankle-hexed halfback, while the Wildcats will welcome back two veteran seniors—quarterback Larry Corrigan and fullback Willis Crenshaw. Corrigan has been ailing with the flu. Crenshaw missed the Colorado game last week with a leg injury.

Idle five weeks with a tender ankle, Turner probably will be limited to defensive duty in his 1963 baptism—but his readiness will give MU's secondary greater flexibility than heretofore.

Dan Devine, Missouri coach, now has reached the point where his offensive and defensive backs are pretty clearly defined. He can substitute two men on fourth down, and two more when the ball changes hands—without running afoul of the new substitution rule.

Offensively, the Bengals go with Gary Lene, quarterback; Monroe Phelps, Paul Underhill and Ted Saussele, halfbacks; and Carl Reese, fullback. Underhill is the only letterman in this group.

Defensive specialists in the backfield include Turner, Daryl Krugman, Ken Boston, Dave Harvey, Vince Tobin, Gus Otto and Bob Widenhofer. Clay Cooper, defensive backfield coach, has been using a three-deep of Krugman and Boston at the halfbacks, and Tobin at safety.

Otto, the No. 1 linebacker, also will double on offense, too—much as Andy Russell, currently a Pittsburgh Steeler linebacker, did last year.

A knee strain probably will keep Ralph Kubinski, 224-pound senior guard, in drydock this Saturday—with Tom Wyrostek due to replace him. End John Sevik, who played just 2½ minutes against Idaho, is pegged for more action Saturday. He has been hampered by a severe arm bruise.

Corrigan, 185-pound "Cat pilot," owns a 54 per cent completion mark and should spruce up the Purple's passing attack. Ron Barlow at 220 pounds, and Crenshaw—a ramming 210-pounder—will give K-State a bruising 1-2 wallop on the ground.

Saturday's game brings together Devine and Doug Weaver the Wildcat skipper who was Devine's top assistant here in 1958 and 1959. Also on the K-State coaching staff are John Kadlec and Bob Halley, both former MU players. Kadlec was an assistant coach at MU for eight years.

Missouri has dominated the K-State series in recent years—winning 23 of the last 25 encounters. Last Wildcat triumph was in 1957 when Bus Mertes' team won out, 23-21—gaining 40 rushing yards against the Tigers.

A delegation of fans from Clinton, Mo., will honor Dave Gill, senior Bengal tackle, in brief half-time ceremonies Saturday. The Mizzou lineman prepped at Clinton high, but now resides in Fulton where his father, the Rev. Lawrence Gill, is chaplain at Westminster college.

Fish Story Told
In Big Bass Catch

H. Ray Anderson, 610 South Harrison, manager of Sedalia's Memorial Airport, landed a six pound black bass on the Lake of the Ozarks Wednesday evening and the fish so far is the leader in its division in the lake's fall fishing roundup.

The circumstance of the catch is a fish story in itself.

Anderson said he was fishing for crappie, hooked a small one and as he was pulling it in the bass struck the crappie. The strike by the bass showed the crappie further up Anderson's line and the bass became caught on the hook.

Anderson was fishing at Hendrix Haven on old Lake Road 19 when he made the catch at 5:30 p.m., he said.

Cardinals Go After 100th Win

Saturday night the William Jewell Cardinals go after Coach Norris A. Patterson's 100th victory as head mentor at the Liberty College. The Cardinals' opponent for this contest will be the Grace-land Yellowjackets. The "Jackets," who are not fielding one of their stronger teams this year, would like nothing better than to wreck this occasion for the Cards and for Patterson.

As if this wasn't enough incentive for the Graceland team, the contest will also have an important bearing on the M.C.A.U. Conference race. Jewell now stands 2-0 in the conference, having defeated both Culver-Stockton and Tarkio on the road. Graceland stands 1-1 in league play, having lost to Missouri Valley before rebounding to win their first game of the season against Culver-Stockton by a score of 14-13.

Overall Graceland is 1-3 on the season, having also lost to Westminster and Carthage College. Jewell is 3-1 for the season, with Culver, Maryville and Tarkio being knocked off consecutively after an opening game loss to Ottawa. For comparative scores against their only common opponent so far—Culver—Jewell defeated the Wildcats by a score of 29-0.

The game, which had been scheduled for Independence at the William Chrisman High School football field, has been rescheduled for the stadium in Lamoni, Iowa, home of the Yellowjackets. Starting time is still 7:30 p. m.

Jewell came out of last week's game with the Tarkio Owls in excellent shape in the injury category. Only the usual assortment of minor scrapes and bruises were reported.

Coach Patterson was extremely happy, and rightly so, with the offensive showing against the Owls. For the first three games, the passing game of the "Birds" had been almost non-existent, totaling only 90 yards.

However, with Ed Schriber, Point Pleasant, N. J. Jack Patterson, K. C., Southeast; and Dick Nixon, St. Joe Central, at the quarterbacking slot, the aerial game of the Cards worked as smoothly as the proverbial blue lagoon. Together they clicked for seven completions in twelve attempts for 171 yards. Clem Buschmann also completed one pass good for 19 yards. This was his fifth completion in as many tries, not a bad percentage in anyone's league. The future success of the Cardinals depends on their ability to pass the ball. Success in this venture will loosen up the defense for the Cards' power sweeps which they like to use so well.

The defense came in for its share of glory too, as they held the Owls to 81 yards on the ground. Although Tarkio gained 190 yards through the air, 80 of them came on one touchdown play; also the Owls had three passes intercepted.

Hamilton, Geigel Will Be Paired

Larry Hamilton — the Missouri Mauler — and Bob Geigel, two of the principals in tag team action at Centennial Hall on the last wrestling card, will be paired in individual battling when the pros have at it here Tuesday night.

Larry Hamilton

The clash between the two bruising heavyweights will highlight a four-event program sponsored by the Pettis County Post No. 16 of the American Legion.

Also featured will be a tag team scrap that marks the return of Ronnie Etchison, a Missourian, to this area. The versatile Etchison, who now resides in California, will pair with Jack Allen to oppose Big Jim Grabmire and Bulldog Danny Plechas.

The girls' event bring together sassy Jessica Rogers and equally aggressive Ann Reagen.

In another pairing, the capable Allen will go opposite Grabmire. Hamilton was paired with Allen in team action their last time out and the two pooled efforts to tame the rugged team of Geigel and Johnny Kace.

Brawling was the keynote as Hamilton roughed his way through. He didn't take the time to apply any holds or try any fancy stuff. He made the grade with straight power tactics that included a wide measure of slugging and a heavy dose of body slams. Hamilton a gruff 250-pounder, is adept at all the roughing phases of the game and makes his pre-cense know authority. Geigel will be trying to make up in part for the loss his team suffered and will be looking for Hamilton's scalp — anyway he can get it.

Hopes To Continue

HOUSTON (AP)—Solly Hemus, fired as a New York Met coach Thursday after two seasons under Casey Stengel, said he hopes to continue in baseball on the field but has no definite connection to announce at this time.

Military Bias Memorandum Is Made Public

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Defense Department changed its mind and made public a memorandum ordering the services to undertake an inventory of any racial discrimination near military bases.

The Associated Press disclosed the order and accompanying questions on Oct. 2, but the Pentagon refused to make public the text of the memorandum on grounds
it was an official working paper.
The memorandum requires an "off-base equal opportunity inventory" at each installation in the United States where 500 or more military personnel are assigned.

The services are given until Nov. 8 to report back and are under orders to submit three follow-up reports on May 1, 1964,
Nov. 1, 1964 and May 1, 1965.
"The inventory has been drafted in terms of discrimination against Negro military personnel and their dependents," the memorandum said.

"Where discrimination against other kinds of minority groups is a significant factor with respect to morale, the answers furnished in the inventory should be appropriately expanded."

WHEAT FOR THE OVENS OF RUSSIA—As the Soviets publicly admit the 1963 grain harvest is down 18 per cent below last year's, half a billion dollars' worth of Canadian grain is being poured into Russian ships at Vancouver. ## Eisenhower Says

U. S. Should Encourage Soviet-Red China Division

GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower says the United States should exploit the split between the Soviet Union and Red China—
"encourage it and do those things that tend to widen it."

"Assuming this is a genuine split, it is to our great advantage to promote it," Eisenhower told Associated Press reporters in an interview at his office here.

The former president also:
Believes Soviet Premier Khrushchev "has come to the conclusion there is nothing to be gained, as of now, by war." But, Eisenhower added, "there is no question in my mind that the Communist objective of world domination is as firm as ever."

Wants inspection safeguards against Soviet cheating written into any U.S.-Soviet agreement to ban nuclear weapons from orbiting space satellites.

Says French President Charles de Gaulle "knows that geographically France is absolutely essential to a successful NATO," and for this reason "is not always easy to deal with."

Believes Ludwig Erhard, slated to succeed Konrad Adenauer as West Germany's chancellor, is a good man.

The text of the interview:
Question: How do you assess the importance of the split between the Soviet Union and Red China? Can the United States exploit this split to its advantage?
Eisenhower: Assuming this is a genuine split, it is to our great advantage to help promote it—if for no other reason but to delay, if not make impossible, some of the things the Chinese say they want to do.

This is one of those things you have to approach cautiously. You don't want to show your hand completely, and you don't want to go overboard. It should be watched just as close as you know how, using all your intelligence, all your observers. I would say encourage it and do those things that tend to widen the split.

Q. Mr. President, would you support an agreement with the Soviets to ban nuclear weapons from orbiting satellites?

A. This is what I want to know:
Is each side, then, to be invited into the area where the satellite is fired into orbit, and to inspect it before it goes?

Q. It comes back to the old stumbling block, inspection?

A. Yes, you have to have some kind of inspection.

Q. You had some rather unhappy experiences with Soviet Premier Khrushchev in the past. Can you now accept at face value his coexistence line?

A. As a matter of fact, you know, my personal experiences with Khrushchev have been widely and very badly stated. Actually he was always going out of his way to be personally friendly. He didn't directly address me at the

City Engineer Yields To Sign Opposition

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—A no-turn sign was erected by a highway crew Monday at a side road near the turnpike. By Monday evening, the sign was down.

A workman put it up again Tuesday, but by Tuesday afternoon the sign was lying on its side again.

The story Wednesday was the same—up, down.

Angry and befuddled, City Engineer Bill Korbitz announced Thursday the sign will stay down.
"Somebody obviously doesn't want it up," he said. "We won't argue any more."

face fleet would be effective in the NATO defense system?

A. I would suspect that as a stopgap you might find value in something of that kind.

Q. What is the passing of your old friend Adenauer (soon to retire as chancellor of West Germany) going to mean to us in our relations with Germany?

A. This man Erhard (to succeed Adenauer) is a very smart man.
I like him. If he can achieve the position that Adenauer had, I think he will be all right. I am afraid he is not too popular in some areas. But I think he is a good man, and I believe there will be no trouble as long as we don't have a splintered political power in that country, and that is always a danger.

But I just think they feel there are other and better ways to gain their ends.

Q. You had a lot to do with bringing NATO into life. Do you think that nationalism of Western European countries, particularly De Gaulle in France, is threatening the disintegration of this alliance?

A. I doubt whether it is quite that serious. This is what I think:
General de Gaulle has been my friend since 1942, and we have had our ups and downs. We have had, really, some tough disputes.
But I know this: I have never lost my liking and respect for him, and I think he feels the same way. Ever since I have known him he has made the restoration and dignity, and what he calls the honor and glory of France, his whole life.

This means everything he can do to make France again a leader in the Western world. I think he almost goes back to the time of Louis XIV, back to the 1700s, and he is visualizing France in a similar place.

He might think: Now we are not sitting on the edge of the precipice of war as we were from 1948, the time of the Berlin airlift, until 1953. If he feels this way, then, not fearing war, he is free to indulge the spirit of nationalism and he can do a number of things without really risking the whole concept.

Of course, he knows that geographically France is absolutely essential to a successful NATO.
So he is not always easy to deal with, but he is an honorable man and he is thinking only of France.
Q. Do you think a Polarix sur-

Freeman Finds Little Wheat Program Push

WALLA WALLA, Wash. (AP)—
Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman told Pacific Northwest farmers Thursday he has found no strong support for any wheat program in his farm-state tour.

"In absence of such support you may be sure that Congress will leave the wheat program about like it is, and that another referendum will be held next year to determine the program for 1965," Freeman said.

Freeman's visit to Walla Walla was part of a tour he has been making of major farm states.
One of his first stops was Salina,
Kan.

Greco Took Dad's Advice,
Now He's Top Performer

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—When Buddy Greco was 4 years old, his father drew a keyboard on the kitchen table.

"Now learn to play the piano," he commanded.

The small boy faithfully practiced fingering exercises on his make-believe piano, then went on to become a skilled performer on a real piano in a settlement house near his home in South Philadelphia.

At 16, Buddy had to quit school. His mother and father were ill, his older brother was in the service. Buddy got a $60 a week job as accompanist for a strip-tease dancer.

"It was very exciting work at that age," he recalled, "but the job only lasted a week."

Greco drifted from job to job. He toured the world for two years as singer-pianist-arranger for Benny Goodman's band. He wrote more than two score songs of his own.

Then he organized his own cocktail lounge trio, singing sentimental songs while accompanying himself on the piano. Over a 17-year period Buddy figures he sang in some 500 cocktail lounges.

"I knew I had talent, but I wasn't getting anywhere," he recalled. "I become cocky and bitter, and I hated the world."

In 1958, his frustrated hunger for recognition led to an emotional collapse. Greco lost his voice for six months.

One night he was playing in a club in Chicago and Dani Crayne, a film actress, came in with her father.

"I took one look at her and knew that was it," he said. "She is a rare human being. She gave me back my self-confidence. She calmed me down. She made a new world for me."

Soon after they were married, Dani also gave him seven words of wisely advice which helped change Buddy's whole career.

Dani advised him, "sing like yourself."

Until then, Buddy had been doing his singing seated at the piano.

Dani suggested, "Stand up and sing."

He's been standing up and singing like himself ever since, and in three years he has become one of the top performers on the nation's supper club circuit.

Before Dani came into his life Buddy was lucky to earn $15,000 a year. Last year he made better than $250,000, and this year he is sure to top that.

GIFT FROM MISSOURI WOMEN

A mobile laboratory to be used by the Missouri Water Pollution board in testing rivers and streams was recently presented to the state by the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs. This photo was taken as Mrs. Robert Matthews of Canton, state federation president, handed to Governor John M. Dalton title to the vehicle. Looking on as the brief ceremony took place in front of the capitol steps are Mrs. Lawson Obermiller, chairman of the federation's water pollution activities, and A. Perry Phillips, chairman of the state pollution board; both are from Columbia.

Mrs. Obermiller, who had been working in regard to pollution problems with Jack K. Smith, executive secretary of the state board, first suggested to the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs board of directors in 1961 that it sponsor the unique plan of buying a mobile laboratory for the state agency.

The idea met with immediate approval and clubs all over Missouri began raising funds for the unit. The first contribution was a spontaneous collection at Wellsville at a 4th District meeting of the junior division of MFWC. A Columbia group held bridge parties, with 25-cent contributions from each player. Other clubs held bake, antique, white-elephant and food-wagon sales, and home-talent plays. A former Missourian, Dr. John M. Montgomery, heard of the project and sent a contribution from Colorado. The necessary goal was a 25-cent contribution from each of the 17,000 members of 600 federated clubs in Missouri.

The women's clubs have also given valuable support to pollution abatement problems in their local communities. So far in 1963, they have helped carry municipal sewer bond elections totaling nearly $9 millions.

Red Chinese Target

Winds Of Change Howling
On All Sides of ThailandBy WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP)—This country is in the eye of the hurricane.

Winds of change are howling on all sides of Thailand. In the eye of the storm there is calm laden with menace.

The Thais—with American help—are trying to seed the storm, to make it spend its strength before it can move in and engulf the nation.

The threat to Thailand from the Red Chinese giant is not one of direct conquest by military invasion. That would raise the prospect of massive retaliation against the aggressor from Thailand's Western allies.

The Red Chinese aim, Bangkok seems to feel, is to strangle this nation of 30 million, geographically. This would be accomplished by envelopment of the surrounding countries through subversion, infiltration, civil war and eventual Communist domination.

In Thailand, the aim would be to produce a situation in which the Thais would find themselves fighting Thais—civil strife abetted by infiltrators from Communist North Viet Nam or the Communist Pathet Lao forces in Laos. This would do the Red Chinese's work for them and expose the country to domination by forces controlled from Peking.

The Thai government, supported by Americans, is attempting to strike back in what is called here the battle for the Northeast. There the Communists for 10 years have been trying to infiltrate villages, to dominate them by promises or terror or both.

There are many difficulties. Often the target villages of the infiltrators are accessible only by aircraft. Often the language and customs and traditions in the affected areas are closer to Laotian than to Thai. The people look like Laotians and have close ties with those across the Mekong River.

Police patrols along the river border have been stepped up and their efficiency has increased greatly in the past two years, but the Mekong is a way of life and it is almost impossible to plug the holes.

The government effort begins in the villages along the border of northern Laos, which already is dominated by the Red Pathet Lao. In turn, the Pathet Lao are supported by the Viet Minh from Communist North Viet Nam.

Communist infiltrators, active for years, tell the villagers they are not really Thai but are Lao; that their government in Bangkok is corrupt and deceitful and will turn the country over to the foreigner.

The infiltrators never speak of communism. They go out of their way to praise the Lord Buddha in deference to religious faith. They attempt to capture the village phuyabai (headman) and use him to dominate the others. When persuasion fails they use terror.

The Communists want northeastern Thailand badly and seem to have a long-range timetable for enveloping it. The area is important to neighboring Laos, which imports rice from the Thai hinterland. A Communist Laos without northeastern Thailand might be more liability than asset.

For the past year, an important instrument of counterattack has been a system of mobile development units.

The idea belongs to the government of Prime Minister Sarit Thanarat. The United States contributes to it, advises and observes when asked, but stays in the background. It is a Thai show.

The scheme involves surveys followed by dispatch of teams made up of doctors, technicians, experts in various fields and teachers. They bring along dispensaries, tools, seeds, building materials and other things, according to the local needs.

Villagers provide labor to produce school buildings, roads and other improvements to help the village develop itself. The hope is that this will build its own momentum and spread from village to village.

Along with this goes propaganda—pictures of the Thai king and government personalities, pictures of the Buddha, motion pictures of life in Bangkok, material for school children.

Matters are not left there. Follow-up visits see how the programs are progressing and what else might be needed.

Americans pitch in on their own. GI's and the Seabees from the considerable U.S. military establishment based in Thailand have their own civic action programs which help villages with road building, well digging, medical assistance and many other things.

The Americans have become highly popular.

All this effort seems to be paying off. The pressure is reported to be lessening perceptibly in the villages affected by the program. Incidence of Communist infiltration themselves seem enthusiastically receptive to the program.

But the Communists are not likely to give up easily. They will return to the attack.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SINGAPORE (AP)—Communists and other left-wing extremists reeled today under the second sledgehammer blow in less than four weeks to their hopes of dominating Singapore, Malaysia's trade and military center.

A leftist general strike, with which the Reds hoped to cripple Singapore's economy, collapsed Wednesday night. Hundreds of workers had already gone back to their jobs when the government declared the strike politically motivated and illegal. Police arrested 137 persons.

The first blow to the extreme left was the landslide victory of Premier Lee Kuan Yew's coalition government in the parliamentary election Sept. 21. Lee's coalition won 37 of the 51 seats, while the Communist-controlled Barisan Socialists captured only 13.

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Bali's destructive Gunung Agung volcano has shown signs of erupting again, the Antara news agency reported today.

A delayed dispatch from Denpasar, capital of Bali, said a rain of hot ash poured down the mountain for three consecutive days two weeks ago.

Most residents along the slopes of the mountain departed after last March's eruption killed 1,500 persons.

TOKYO (AP)—The U.S.-Japanese Security Consultative Committee held its fourth meeting today and agreed that the limited nuclear test-ban treaty is no cause for slowing down defense efforts.

Japanese Foreign Minister Masayoshi Ohira told a news conference after the three-hour meeting that the United States and Japan hold "absolutely identical views" on this matter.

The United States was represented by Adm. Harry D. Felt, commander in chief of the Pacific command, and ambassador to Japan Edwin O. Reischauer.

PARIS (AP)—The French government has put a ceiling of $1.20 a pound on ordinary beefsteak in a new move to fight inflation.

Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing said the retail ceiling was aimed at butchers who failed to respond to the government's appeal to hold down prices.

Wholesale prices were held within government-approved limits, he said, but retail prices climbed to $1.23 a pound.

WEST MEON, England (AP)—The ashes of Guy Burgess, renegade British diplomat, have been buried in an English country churchyard.

Only West Meon's rector, the Rev. John Hurst, and three of Burgess' relatives were at the ceremony. The ashes were interred in the grave of Burgess' father, a Royal Navy commander.

Burgess defected from the British Foreign Office with Donald MacLean in 1951 and died in Moscow six weeks ago.

When do the tires give up?

Some owners never find out. We advertise 35,000 miles to a set. Some get closer to 60,000.

You can safely expect 15,000 miles more than you get with a regular truck.

The tires on a VW aren't loaded down with heavy fenders, frame, or hood.

VW welds its truck into one solid hunk to make it light and solid.

This takes nearly a half ton off the tires. (Which is also one half ton you don't buy gas for.)

Even the engine saves you weight.

It's made of aluminum-magnesium alloy. (Lighter and stronger than aluminum itself.)

And you never need water or anti-freeze. So you don't even have to haul a radiator.

When you load the Volkswagen, the cargo sits in the middle because the engine's in back.

The tires share the load equally.

Even at that, though, some VWs won't get 35,000 miles.

A lot depends on the roads.

Volkswagen doesn't build those.

CLASSROOM CONTROL BOOTH—Complete electronic console above is intended to replace the conventional teacher's desk. Designed by Oregon educator Dr. Jack Edling, it features stereo tape recording equipment, motion pictures, filmstrips, slides and transparencies and a public address system, all operated from a control panel or by remote control as the teacher moves about the classroom. As well as slides and films, blackboard-type lessons can be projected onto the large screen above the desk as the teacher writes, seated and facing the class. All projections are visible in a normally lighted room.
